Q: Mips: Using a group of registers in a loop I am trying to figure out how to use a group of registers to save the items into an array which they will process later on. Since I have the variables close to each other and I only need access to one at a time, I was thinking of using a loop to access them. I have this so far: #local label tmp adds1 $5, $1, $2 #trying to save to tmp1, tmp2,... add $10, $0, $1 #using tmp0 add $2, $2, $10 #using tmp1 adds8 $12, $13, $13 #and so on. Is there a way to do this or am I missing something? A: mips has a subroutine instruction. There is an example here: If you're using MIPS32, the subroutine instruction is sb. If you're using MIPS64, the instruction is sub. A: You can use use (sub)registers in a loop like this: main: add $2, $1, $2 # $2 = accumulator + arg1*arg2 sub $1, $1, $4
